Honorary Doctorate amidst playing a pivotal role in elevating the chess scene globally

EIU-Paris proudly confers the Honorary Doctorate in Business Management upon Abdullah Salem Al Wahshi. Acknowledging his excellence and strategic leadership, Mr. Al Wahshi, CEO of the Asian Chess Federation, has significantly impacted the global chess community. EIU honors his extensive experience and accomplishments, a testament to national and international success.

Abdullah Salem Al Wahshi has played a pivotal role in elevating the chess scene in Saudi Arabia. Here are some of his key contributions:

Leadership: As the President of the Saudi Chess Federation since 2018 and CEO of the Asian Chess Federation, he has provided strong leadership and strategic direction for chess development in the country.

Increased Participation: He has overseen a significant rise in chess participation in Saudi Arabia, with the number of registered players growing from around 2,000 in 2018 to over 100,000 in 2023. This growth is attributed to various initiatives like organizing more tournaments, establishing chess clubs in schools and universities, and promoting chess through social media.

Organizing Major Tournaments: Under his leadership, Saudi Arabia has hosted several prestigious chess tournaments, including the World Rapid & Blitz Championships 2023 in Riyadh, which was the largest chess event ever held in the Middle East. These events have helped to attract international attention to chess in Saudi Arabia and raise the profile of the country's players. World Rapid & Blitz Championships 2023 in Riyadh.

Supporting Players: He has implemented various programs to support and train Saudi chess players, including providing financial assistance, coaching, and opportunities to compete in international tournaments. This has led to the emergence of several talented young players, such as Ahmed Al-Harhi, who achieved the title of International Master in 2022.

International Recognition: His efforts have been recognized by the international chess community. In 2022, Saudi Arabia became the first Arab country to be awarded a seat on the advisory board of the International Chess Federation (FIDE).

Overall, Abdullah Salem Al Wahshi's vision and leadership have played a key role in transforming the chess landscape in Saudi Arabia. He has helped to make chess a more popular and accessible sport, and has laid the foundation for future success for Saudi chess players on the international stage.

Honorary Doctorate in Business Management

Dr. Al Wahshi, CEO of the Asian Chess Federation, has significantly impacted the global chess community.

EIU honors his extensive experience and accomplishments, a testament to national and international success. 🏆

The Asian Chess Federation under the leadership of Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Saudi Chess Federation and CEO of the Asian Chess Federation, Abdullah bin Salem Al-Wahshi, has taken the sport to the next level. Recently in Aug 2023 he had the honour of crowning the top three winners. Egyptian player Sameh Sadeq secured first place, followed by Saudi player Ahmed Al-Harhi in second place, and Egyptian player Abdulrahim Jamal claimed third place.

The Makkah Chess Championship is part of a series of events organized by amateur clubs represented by the Saudi Chess Club. These events are supervised by the National Portal for Hobbies (Hawi) with the goal of developing the hobby sector, an important aspect of Saudi Vision 2030. This initiative also aims to support amateur clubs in the region in collaboration with the Saudi and Asian Chess Federations and the host, Umm Al-Qura University. Such events contribute significantly to expanding the base of chess players and enabling individuals of different ages to pursue their hobbies.

MBA Makes a Difference: Dr. Alnajjar's Transformational Pharmacy Leadership

The relevance of the pharmaceutical industry and profession

People are not immortal and much less infallible. Although we know that every human life comes to an end, the quality of life continues to be a determining factor in marking the progress of nations. With the development of society, innovations and discoveries also came that have allowed us to have better health and enjoy life.

With this in consideration, it can be said that the pharmaceutical industry plays a very important role for our society. It helps developing and manufacturing medications that treat diseases, alleviate symptoms, and improve the quality of life for millions of people around the world. In addition to generating well-being, it also provides jobs and valuable research for science. For all of the above, it is essential to have leaders in this area who are trained for today's challenges, which include pandemics, high healthcare costs, and regulations regarding intellectual property and legality.

The rise of a leader in pharmacy: Dr. Hidaia Y. R. Alnajjar

Dr. Hidaia Y. R. Alnajjar graduated as a Bachelor of Pharmacy with Merit of Excellence and Honors from Ajman University in 2008, one of the best educational institutions in the United Arab Emirates. Since then, she has accumulated an impeccable 16 years of experience serving countless patients. She worked as a nutritionist at Dr. Nutrition (2008-2010), pharmacist at Makkah Group Of Pharmacies (2011), pharmacist-in-charge at Ana's Pharmacy LTD (2012-2014) and has held the same position at Bait Al Maqdes Group Of Pharmacies since 2014 to present. Moreover, she's a Certified Life Coach from Transformation Academy (Florida, USA).

Origins are not an impediment but a reason to fight

Hidaia was born in Palestine, and despite the hardship along the way she continued to her mission in learning and be successful in her career. On her own words, "moving to another country and pursuing there a professional career are great challenges, but the important thing is to never give up. If anything should inspire us, it is the conviction to serve and help others."

"Studying MBA in Healthcare Management at EIU-Paris has set a solid foundation in managing my clinical practice efficiently & professionally"

A different form of service: Helping the cause of autism

Interesting people like Dr. Hidaia do not have just one way to serve, but rather find different paths to contribute to society. Since August 2021, she has been a Lecturer at Autism Club House. The primary goals of this global community are to enhance the lives of individuals with autism and to further their rights. Decision-makers are invited by the Autism Club House to promote improved policy responses to the needs of individuals with autism. With her participation, Hidaia wanted to increase societal knowledge and understanding of autism. Additionally, since May 2023, she has also been a columnist for the largest exhibition for People with Disabilities in the MENASA region, Access Abilities Expo.

The growth of a leader can be exponential: From Pharmacy to an MBA

With the purpose of improving her capacity as a leader in the pharmaceutical field, Dr. Hidaia Y. R. Alnajjar decided to pursue a Master of Business Administration in Healthcare Management at the European International University, Paris to complement her technical skills with a comprehensive understanding of the operational and strategic aspects of healthcare organizations. Students seeking this MBA specialization at our institution are driven by a desire to lead and manage healthcare teams effectively, optimize patient care, and contribute to the advancement of the healthcare industry. Regarding her experience with the EIU-Paris, Hidaia stated the following:

An MBA Trailblazer in Pharmacy Management

With a Bachelor of Pharmacy in addition to an MBA in Healthcare Management, and over 16 years' experience in the UAE market in the pharmaceutical industry, I bring a unique blend of clinical expertise and business acumen that sets me apart from others. My education at EIU-Paris has equipped me with the skills to effectively manage pharmaceutical operations, optimize inventory management, implement cost-effective strategies, and ensure optimal patient care and safety.

MBA Makes a Difference: Dr. Alnajjar's Transformational Pharmacy Leadership

Just like any other business it is equally of most importance for any healthcare business such as private hospitals, clinics, institutes, medical surgeries to run, brand, market, grow and expand ethically and for that its only the management side of the business which can make the difference. Universities are seeing surge of professionals from medical stream very keen to pursue a management degree such as an MBA said Dr. J Anand of EIU-Paris.

Health isn't just carrots and broccoli, it's an adventure! Guide your little explorers with curiosity, not just rules. Make moving fun, eating a discovery, and sleeping a cozy treasure hunt. Let them build their healthiest selves, brick by playful brick."

"Autism is not a missing melody, but a symphony played in a different key. Embrace the unique rhythm, and discover the beauty within."

Our MBA program provides healthcare professionals with a solid foundation in business principles, including finance, marketing, operations, and management. Additionally, our students develop their leadership skills, strategic thinking, networking opportunities, and have an interdisciplinary perspective.

An MBA can be incredibly valuable for healthcare companies for several reasons:

Bridging the Knowledge Gap: Healthcare professionals excel in medicine, but often lack deep understanding of business principles like finance, marketing, and operations. An MBA equips them with these skills, enabling them to make informed decisions, manage resources effectively, and navigate the complex financial landscape.

Leadership Development: Future healthcare leaders need a holistic understanding of the industry. An MBA program focuses on strategic thinking, communication, and team building, empowering individuals to lead effectively, adapt to change, and drive innovation within their organizations.

Innovation and Efficiency: Healthcare faces constant pressure to improve quality while reducing costs. An MBA perspective helps analyze patient data, implement cost-saving measures, and leverage technology for better disease management, ultimately leading to more efficient and innovative healthcare delivery.

Data-Driven Decision Making: The healthcare industry is awash with data. An MBA equips professionals with the analytical skills to interpret this data, identify trends, and make data-driven decisions that improve patient care, optimize resource allocation, and inform strategic planning.

Career Advancement: In today's competitive healthcare market, an MBA can be a significant differentiator. It broadens career options, granting access to leadership roles in hospitals, pharmaceutical companies, health insurance firms, and more.

An MBA can bridge the gap between clinical expertise and business acumen, propelling healthcare companies towards sustainable success and improved patient outcomes

Harmony in Leadership: Fostering Creativity, and Transforming Education

In the pursuit of fostering a harmonious leadership environment, it's important to navigate diversity, nurture creativity, and transform education holistically. This involves exploring the profound impact of creativity and collaborative leadership in writers' groups on enhancing diversity, narratives, and the authorial experience. Expanding on how being an author and poet extends beyond a therapeutic endeavor, evolving into a powerful engagement that transcends traditional boundaries.

The narrative expands to bring awareness to the integration of mindfulness and emotional intelligence (EQ) for business students, emphasizing their role in enhancing harmony within diverse environments. In parallel, exploring the intersection of creative writing coaching within international schools, demonstrating how it becomes a catalyst for harmonious learning spaces. By encouraging diverse voices, storytelling, and creative expression, this approach not only nurtures individual talents but also fosters an environment where different perspectives are not only acknowledged but celebrated.

Furthermore, the importance of Neuroleadership and existential well-being in the context of learning and creativity. By integrating these elements in learning illuminates a path that not only nurtures individual growth but also fulfills the eight levels of Maslow's hierarchy of needs. This comprehensive perspective acknowledges that a harmonious leadership environment is one that not only cultivates creativity and diversity but also prioritizes the well-being and fulfillment of all involved, creating an inclusive educational experience that goes beyond traditional boundaries and resonates with the multifaceted dimensions of human growth and development.

As an educator and author, I champion harmonious leadership through embracing diversity, nurturing creativity, and transforming education holistically. Writers' groups showcase the profound impact of collaboration on enriching narratives, readings, and the authorial experience to redefine boundaries and shape our collective story.

Ms. Bhavna Khemlani
